

REFLOAT TWO SHIPS AGROUND IN FOG ON BAY STATE COAST

Boston Horse Show Continues to Furnish Thrills for Social Elite of the East and Canada

SHARBOR IS DELAYED

Coast Guard Goes to Rescue of a Fisherman Ashore Near Provincetown

Two ships went ashore, one a Boston harbor tug and the other off Provincetown, and shipping schedules in general were disrupted today by a thick fog along the New England coast.

The Boston College, news and largest steam tug, was the first to go aground on Gallops Island, and, followed by a crew of 18 men. She was refloated by the rising tide on an unaided moor.

The Anselm M. Perini, Gloucester, towed the Boston College, grounded on the inner bar and north of Peabody Hill. Coast Guard station near Provincetown, but for the tug, which was refloated by the station crew. Capt. Adams M. Perry and eight men might have been endangered.

The surfmen sighted the tug's lights at the shore, but only shortly after midnight. There is no doubt that the rescue of the Peabody Hill and two ships grounded on the inner bar are very easy.

Burning a red light on the surface, the tug was refloated by the station crew. The tug was refloated by the station crew. The tug was refloated by the station crew.

GIRL, 15, STAR OF HORSE SHOW

Pitting her riding skill against some of the best horsemen in the nation and abroad, Miss Ellen Harding, 15-year-old Winchester girl entered as the heroine of the Boston Horse Show even though she went down to defeat in the beach-and-wood sweepstakes.

Crowds at the show were thickest when Miss Harding forced two jump-offs before Limerick, an Irish hunter from far off Dublin, owned by Capt. John O'Dwyer of the Irish Free State riding team and ridden by Capt. Cyril R. Harris, was defeated.

Miss Harding rode Pawsie, a gray gelding, owned by Byron W. Anthony, Jr., of Providence.

The girl, with long brown curls, showed the courage and skill of a veteran of the ring in her handling of Pawsie before she lost the blue to the famous Irish officer. And he, gallant Irish gentleman that he is, was more than gracious and apologetic in expressing to her his regret that he had to deprive her of the victory.

Miss Harding was one of the first to show her mount over the course of four jumps, each four feet six, twice around. Therefore she enjoyed the honor of setting an early mark for the field of 40 horses to shoot at when she rode Pawsie to a clean performance—this is a class where the least tick or sign of fear meant the horse was eliminated.

The 1500 championship international military jumping stake was won by the Canadian army team when Burephale, a powerful bay gelding, ridden by Maj. R. S. Timm, outjumped the best of the United States army and Irish Free State entries.

Second honors went to the United States army team's Tan Bark, an aged brown gelding, ridden by Lieut. E. P. Thomson, who also rode the last place in the United States army team rode fifth with Huron Girl, a chestnut mare.

The last place was taken by the Canadian army's Bert, Murphy, ridden by Lieut. L. D. Hammond.

Hold Youth for Slaying of Couple

Port Arthur, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Berwick, 22, was formally charged with the fatal shooting of Miss Marie Crow and William Byrd, 21, in front of the girl's home in Berwick, Tex. Berwick was taken to Bastrop and lodged in the county jail.

Miss Crow and Byrd were killed from ambush as they walked arm in arm toward the front door of the Berwick house. Berwick admitted he loved the girl.

ROYAL PAIR MAY WED IN TURIN

Rome, Nov. 1 (AP)—Popolo Di Roma's Vatican City correspondent today said the marriage of Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium probably will take place at Turin instead of Rome.

As reasons he assigned the residence, he said, in Turin of Archbishop Gamba, who probably will perform the ceremony; Turin's position as capital of Piedmont, old seat of the House of Savoy; the sacred ground on which the Savoy was said to have been laid upon the recent from the cross, and which is kept in Turin as property of the reigning house, and fourth, that political considerations befitting marriage of the heir to the throne in Rome itself no longer exist as they did at the time of the King's marriage.

LONDON CHEERS AS MOONALD RETURNS

London, Nov. 1.—Prime Minister MacDonald, home from his peace mission to the United States, arrived in London early this afternoon and received an enthusiastic reception from a crowd on the steps of the station.

Debarth at dawn from the peace mission, he declared he believed his trip had furthered the interests of world peace and had been a success.

"I believe sincerely that with other United States statesmen my conversations with him and with other United States statesmen have brought our two peoples much closer together and improved enormously their mutual understanding," he said.

"My mission has also, I am convinced, paved the way for a successful cooperation with the other powers in maintaining the peace of the world. Strong in the purpose of my mission has been fulfilled and that the way is now cleared for the next step."

Mr. MacDonald said his exchange of views with Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada, both on his United States mission and on imperial affairs, was also most advantageous and timely.

"Throughout my visit I have endeavored as best I could to voice what I believed to be the peaceful aspirations of the British people in all parts of the empire and to that I have met with nothing but the most welcome response," he said.

'Half Navy' Held for a Bill, Mexico Sues

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 1 (AP)—The Mexican government has filed suit in Superior Court here to recover possession of the patrol boat S.A.F. No. 2, formerly the Teate, which constitutes half of Mexico's west coast fleet.

The craft, launched about three months ago, recently was returned to the ways of the Peter Hask shipyard here and work on its hull started. It supposedly is held for a repair bill. In the complaint, the Mexican government says it had paid for the boat about $12,000.

Rask said there has been a misunderstanding which would be straightened out soon.

TEXTILE MEN SHUN MCMANON

Spartanburg, S. C., Nov. 1 (AP)—The Southern Textile Association today declined to participate in an invitation extended by Thomas P. McMahon, of New York, president of the United Textile Workers.

The annual convention of the association voted to decline an invitation extended by McMahon in a telegram to the association.

"The records of your activities and accomplishments during the past 20 years have not been such as to inspire confidence in you," the association said in a statement regarding wage and hours of labor questions took the stand that its objects are "purely educational."

'TAX GIRL' PINS FEAR TWO DEAD FALSE ENTRY ON POND AT STAR

Los Angeles, Nov. 1 (AP)—Declarator by Dist. Atty. Burton Pitts that it would be "unfair" to release Alexander Panter, under indictment for the murder of a woman, was followed by a statement today that defense attorneys would not seek temporary freedom for the multi-millionaire theater man.

Pitts said his investigators had learned that he had been in San Diego and that his investigators had reached the final arguments last week.

Sentence of one to 50 years in prison was postponed until Thursday, November 7, by Trial Judge Charles W. Fricke today on motion of the prisoner's counsel.

Panter appeared in court for the first time wearing handcuffs. His aged mother-in-law, Mrs. Elvira Mendelsohn, wept as Panter was led back to his cell in the county jail.

Panter, who was at liberty under bail of $25,000 for the taking of testimony, was removed to the custody of deputy sheriffs near the close of the trial and sent to jail as soon as the jury convicted him.

Ferry Galster, attorney for the vaudeville musician, later announced he would make no effort to obtain Panter's release on bond but would press his motion for a new trial on allegations of irregularities on the part of the jury during deliberation and confession of the part of the court and prosecution during the trial.

Firemen's Pay Raise in Lowell Campaign

Lowell, Nov. 1.—The introduction of the proposed wage increase for the members of the Lowell Fire department as an issue in the mayoralty campaign has drawn a vigorous protest from the firemen.

Referring to the issue as a "brought about when a local paper called for a vote on the issue," the firemen said they would not take the public into their confidence and announce where they stood on the matter.

Mayor Braden, whose reelection the firemen oppose, has not taken a position on the question.

Democratic journalist, has come before the rate and in speeches and advertisements has demanded that his opponent do likewise.

Says Outside Does Not Reveal the Man

"Vote for me," said the man who put his name in the outside of Birmingham, Ala., today, for the office of mayor.

He was identified as James H. Hackett, a former member of the Chicago City Opera company, who was singing in a concert at the local high school last night when a large section of the ceiling fell.

SEE REPEAL OF
LIQUOR LAW

That the voters of Massachusetts will next year repeal the so-called "Baby Volstead Law" of the state was the prediction freely made by anti-prohibitionists here on receipt of news of the sweeping "wet" victory in the Ontario provincial election.

The proposition of prohibition, however, fell to see how the result in the Canadian province can influence any referendum held on the liquor issue in this country.

Julian Coleman, general counsel of the Constitutional Liberty League, made no effort to conceal his satisfaction over the news from Ontario. He accepted it as one more indication that "the common sense of the people" is at last asserting itself.

"We are pleased at the result of the elections in Ontario," said Coleman "is better than the most optimistic could have anticipated. It indicates that the people of that province are satisfied that the liquor control bill is a success as a temperance measure."

"It shows, also, that as far as one election can show, that the common sense people of the world are rejecting prohibition, the more they experiment with it. It will encourage everyone who is working for an intelligent system of liquor control in this country."

"I hope and expect that the Boston Evening American will continue its work of teaching the Massachusetts electorate the reason why the state Volstead act should be repealed."

"Our opponents claim that the repeal would bring about an orgy of lawlessness. They forget that the state law was not passed until 1922, yet at that time there was no orgy of lawlessness in Massachusetts."

Carver, 94, Admits
His Remarkable Man

Canaan, N. J., Nov. 1.—Thomas Haigh, 94, of Middletown, Pa., is a remarkable man. Judge Haigh said so when Haigh was testifying in a contest over a friend's will, and Haigh admitted it was true. "I am a remarkable man," he said, "I have always tried to make myself useful, and I am still able to play my trade as wood carver."

JAPS PROTEST TRADE WAR BY CHINESE

Kyoto, Japan, Nov. 1 (AP).—Japanese indignation at Chinese boycotting was voiced today in round table discussion of the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting here. Memorable Otagiri, director of the Yokohama Specie Bank, presented a statement insisting the employment of the boycott "as an instrument of national policy" should be banned by a pact similar to the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

Some Chinese delegates to the institute admitted the probable use of the boycott to enforce Chinese demands for the abolition of extraterritoriality, but other Chinese delegates agreed that this threat impeded.

The issue led to further discussion of extraterritoriality, with general agreement the board principle eventually must be abandoned, the sooner the better, although some Chinese pointed the weakness of present Chinese judicial arrangements.

Plans presented by Dr. James T. Stewart, American professor at Columbia university, for supervision of judicial administration by the Hague tribunal or a substitute brought widespread approval among the delegates. A Chinese spokesman, however, stressed that any new system must be free from any suspicion of having been imposed by the powers.

Marchioness Curzon's
Son Wins Divorce

London, Nov. 1.—Hubert Duggan, son of the Marchioness Curzon, today was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Joan, daughter of the Canadian financier, Sir Joseph Duggan.

The decree was granted on the ground that Mrs. Duggan was guilty of misconduct with Anthony Jenkins, a Welsh knight in London social circles and one of Duggan's former best friends.

Duggan is the son of the present Marchioness Curzon of Kedleston by her first husband, the late Alfred Duggan of Buenos Aires. She was Grace Elvina Hinde, daughter of the late J. Moore Hinde, former American minister to Brazil.

His wife, the former Joan Duggan, was one of 1929's prittiest debutantes. The wedding was one of the sensations of London society in June, 1928.

The first wife of the Marquis Curzon was a daughter of Levi Leiter of Chicago.

MILLION DOLLAR YACHT IN HUB FOR SUPPLIES

The new $1,000,000 yacht, Olive K, owned by Charles F. Kettering of Dayton, O., was a visitor to Boston today being up at 7 wharf for supplies.

The Olive K is fitting for a cruise around South America that will take all winter.

Built less than a month ago at Bay City, Mich., the yacht is the last word in comfort and beauty.

Kettering, president of the General Motors research department at Dayton, came to Boston aboard the yacht after a two-week tour that brought him through the Great Lakes, St. Lawrence river and down the coast.

After the vessel tied up, Kettering boarded a train for New York. He will meet the vessel there and take on a party of friends for the cruise around South America.

The Olive K is in command of Capt. Frederick Tabling of Boston and carries a crew of 22 men. She has a cruising speed of 13 1/2 knots an hour. She is 160 feet long, 25 feet beam and draws 16 feet of water.

Canon City, Col., Nov. 1 (AP)—A daring plot to escape from the State penitentiary here, where fission is still high following last month's bloody riot, stood frustrated today after guards discovered three convicts tunneling under the east wall of the prison.

The men had tunnelled picks and shovels in some manner and had succeeded in digging a passageway seven feet under cellhouse No. 1.

3-DAY TRUCE IN P.S. D.S. WAR ON NET

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 1 (AP)—A three-day truce in the controversy between Marshal Pilsudski, minister of war, and Jenczak Damski, speaker of the Diet, appeared in light today as President Damski, who is seeking to compose the difference, planned to leave Warsaw for a weekend at his country residence.

M. Damski yesterday refused to open the scheduled fall session of the Diet because of the presence of 70 or more "armed" army officers who had appeared to "assist" their chief, Marshal Pilsudski.

CITIZENS SPEAKER

Last night government deputies, numbering 125 in the total of 444, held a conference and decided to present a motion of lack of confidence in the speaker for his refusal to open the Diet and for offending Marshal Pilsudski as the representative of the army.

A statement issued by the government said the speaker's demand that the army officers leave the building was an unheard-of offense against them, since the lobby is a public place, and other arguments were given by him were "dictated by an incomprehensible fear of army officers who came to see their chief." The speaker was accused of making statements aimed at creating dissension and chaos.

OFFICERS IN PUBLIC LOBBY

The government press insists that the Diet lobby is a public place, since even the postoffice is located there, and that consequently by the presence of the officers there did not violate the Diet's immunity.

It was further stated the officers had come there on their own initiative to manifest solidarity with the marshal and give him moral support in view of an expected Diet attack against him and the government.

Trippi was killed Nov. 11, 1928, following chapel service, when Trippi attempted to escape from the prison during the week of Nov. 17.

DOG AND CAT OF MILK CLIFFS IN KILLING

Detroit, Nov. 1 (AP)—A small white poodle dog and a can of condensed milk are the sole clues police had today in connection with the slaying of William Parry, 22.

Parry was shot and killed as he was playing a game of snoutball in the apartment of three friends. The three friends, brothers are Alfred, Philip and Herbert Shawnow. They are held as witnesses.

Parry was to have spent the night with them. Alfred Shawnow, returning from escorting a girl companion to a theater, found Parry's body. The other brothers, sleeping in an adjoining room, said they did not see the shooting.

The dog and the milk were found in the apartment, but all three of the men disclaimed ownership of them.

Police are searching for the girl Alfred said he escorted to the theater.

NERVOUS STOMACH CAUSED RUNDOWN CONDITION

Roxbury Lady Now Telling All Her Neighbors How Bon-Tone Ended Her Ills

Bon-Tone seems to be the most talked-of medicine today—almost everywhere you go—in homes, offices, shops, factories, clubs, and meeting places of all kinds, you are almost sure to hear someone tell of

Mrs. Ella R. Searle

The remarkable results obtained by this "miracle" medicine, as it has been called.

Mrs. Ella R. Searle, of 558 Baker Street, Roxbury, Mass., who is a member of the Odd Ladies of Guild Row, of Roxbury, states:

"I was sick for the last year with a very nervous stomach and had lots of gas. I was in an extremely nervous condition at times the pain in my stomach would shake so that I would faint. I suppose my liver was also affected, as I would have dizzy spells, and my complexion was quite yellow. I was always constipated, and all these things left me in a weakened condition, with hardly any strength at all."

"I saw Bon-Tone advertised in the papers, so I bought some. I certainly have obtained fine results from the three bottles I have used and my friends all tell me how well I look. My nerves are in fine condition, and I never have those nervous sensations in my stomach. Gas I am glad to say, is a thing of the past; I eat and sleep better; and my bowels are in just fine condition. I have already told all my neighbors about the wonderful results I received from three bottles of Bon-Tone; and I am giving this testimonial for the benefit of people I don't know, who are suffering from the same ailments as I was."

Call and see the Bon-Tone man, who is making the public daily at Speatin Drug Store, Seelye Square, Boston.

Bon-Tone is also for sale in South Boston at John S. Austin's Drug Store, Park Square, in the building at Cole Drug Co., 636 Mass. Ave., Central Square.

CASS SLAYERS IDENTIFIED BY BULLETS

LABOR CHEERS BALDWIN FOR INDIA STAND

Detroit, Nov. 1 (AP)—Microscopic examinations of three of the bullets taken from the body of David Cass, 23, kidnapping victim, have satisfied police as to the identity of the young man's slayers.

The bullets were found to have been fired from a .22 and .38-caliber revolvers, the same revolvers, police say, that were owned by Frank Mohler and Edward Wilson, now serving terms in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette.

Two of the suspects, authorities will decide today whether the two and two other men suspected of participation in a series of kidnapping plots here during the past six months would be returned to face a homicide charge.

The ballistics and pistol experts who examined the bullets were uncertain regarding the gun from which the fourth bullet was fired. Mohler and Wilson were sentenced to Marquette October 7 after they had been caught in a stolen car with part of the ransom money they had received from Matthew Hordreth, Jr., and the younger Hordreth had been rescued from an apartment where he had been chained to a bed for six days.

THIRD MAN SOUGHT
A third man, William Cardinal, alias Murphy, who is believed to have been wounded in the gun battle between police and the trio while officers were seeking the stolen car, escaped. He is being sought in connection with the Hordreth and other kidnappings.

Other suspected members of the kidnap gang include Joseph Laman, now serving a two-year sentence for extortion in connection with the Cass kidnapping; a man named Gorman, and Andrew Gorman, now serving 20 to 30 years for shooting a Birmingham, Ala., policeman. Whether Henry Andrews, sentenced yesterday to from 30 to 50 years for kidnapping Fred Egerman, retired Wyandotte, Mo., case, will be drawn into the Cass case, was not definitely known today.

Nashville "Broke," Mayor Accused

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 1 (AP)—Mismanagement and unlawful expenditures have been charged to Mayor Harry E. Howe in an auditor's report which alleges the city of Nashville is approaching bankruptcy.

Atty. Gen. Richard M. Hixson asks that the mayor be permanently ousted from office and charged with pending a final hearing Nov. 20. It is charged that the auditor's account of police and fire department at the end of 1928 showed a deficit of $38,773.66, due to "shorting" and 1 and 1/2 funds from the general treasury.

Hooters to Keep His Hands Off

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP)—President Hoover will adhere strictly to his hands-off policy in the matter of the selection of a successor to the late Senator Theodore R. Burton of Ohio.

Inquiry today at the White House brought the response that Gov. Cooper of Ohio had not communicated with the chief executive regarding the appointment, expected to be made shortly.

London, Nov. 1 (AP)—While the Labor ministry cheered, Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and former Premier, rose in his own defense today in Parliament to deny assertions he had fathomed expressions of victory in India regarding government views on eventual dominion status for India.

An article in the Daily Mail had violently attacked the Conservative leader and alleged he was responsible for the victory's action in affirming in a published statement of British purpose India's eventual attainment of dominion status.

"The action was described as one which the Conservative firm believe means the end of British rule in India and will lead to disruption of the empire."

He added he would take an early occasion to make a more complete statement on the matter.

Wedgehead Benn, secretary of state for India, in answer to a question by David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, had stated the Simon commission for Indian statutory reform had not been consulted with reference to the passage in the victory's statement relating to the constitutional status of India in the empire.

RESCUED CREW OF RUM SHIP IS HELD

New London, Conn., Nov. 1 (AP)—Immigration officials were expected to begin today an investigation into the sinking off the Long Island coast of the British vessel, James B. after her crew had been cut off Wednesday night by the Coast Guard patrol boat Co-burn.

Customs and Coast Guard officials following a conference said that they would take no action against the vessel's crew of eight men, but that they would hold them for the immigration authorities. The names of the crew could be a closely-guarded secret.

Although they had the James B. on their list as a suspected rum-runner, Coast Guard officials said last night that the sinking of the ship left them without evidence upon which to base action.

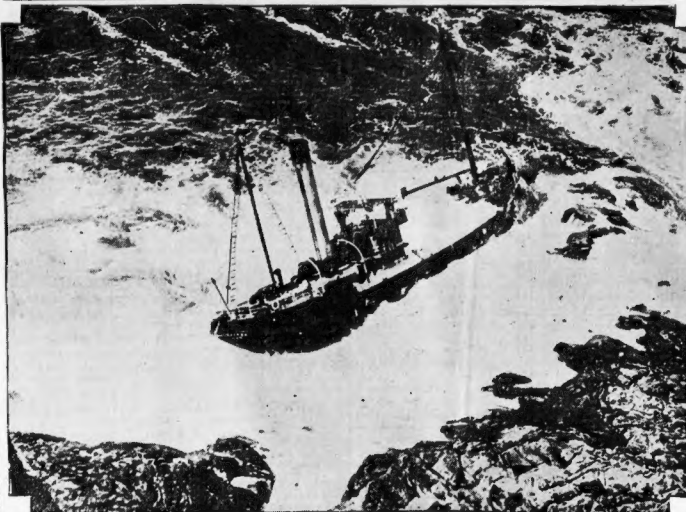

The James B., according to Bowdoin A. M. Haynes, commander of the Co-burn, was cutting without lights 20 miles off the coast and was struck after she had rounded the patrol boat's bow. The crew of the James B. got into their dories just before the vessel sank, and soon after were picked up by the patrol boat.

Believed to be registered at Hail, N. H., the James B. Coast Guard officials said, was seized off New Jersey coast a year ago.

Court Muzzles Press in Murder Hearing
Lubbock, Tex., Nov. 1 (AP)—Jury in Lubbock County were released from printing any testimony in the habeas corpus hearing of Clay Lester, indicted for murder, in an order signed by District Judge Charles M. Mulligan. The move is understood to be an attempt to prevent a change of venue when Lester comes to trial possibly Monday. Judge Mulligan said outside papers would be tried from Lubbock County if they carried the testimony, although he had no way of prohibiting them from publishing elsewhere. The order followed refusal of Lubbock papers to refrain from the testimony.

TARDIEU PICKS NEW FRENCH CABINET

Paris, Nov. 1 (AP)—Andre Tardieu, French moderate and former high commissioner to the United States, today formally accepted President Doumergue's invitation to form a cabinet.

He expects, he said, to have his list of ministers ready tomorrow, permitting its publication then and immediate resumption of Parliament for discussion of the national budget.

France has been without a cabinet for 10 days, since October 22, when the cabinet of Aristide Briand resigned after defeat on a matter of procedure in the Chamber of Deputies. Since then the Radical Socialists, Edouard Daladier and Senator Kieckhefer Clementel both failed to form a new ministry.

Almost 10,000 New England housewives are already enrolled in this wide awake and worthwhile women's organization which stands for Better Housing, Better Food, Better Cooking, Better Cleaning, Better Dressing, Better Homekeeping, Better Thrift, Better Time Management, Better Wages, Better Recreation and Better Womanhood.

About enrolling in the Martha Lee Cooking School there are still a few vacancies in the January classes, both afternoon and evening. The Tuesday evening class, which will open on January 8, is intended for braves, both old and young cooks, who cannot attend the afternoon class. This class is held from 8 to 9:15 p. m.

The afternoon class for home-keepers opens on January 15th, from 2 to 4 p. m. At the end of each course you will receive a little more than two dollars in hold-over coupons. Thomas awarded for those who have attended 7 out of 10 courses.

It covers its cost in different form from any preceding course and every step in the course is carefully explained.

This is what some of Martha Lee pupils say about their school:

LYNN PRINCE IS GOOD
"I want to thank you for the NIBBLE YOUR APPLES OR COOK THEM comes now the week that we set apart for observance to the succulent apple. October 31 to November 8 is National Apple Week with the apt slogan, "Nibble or Cook Them."

It has become a fixed national habit and throughout the entire United States apples have featured on the menus of hotels, restaurants, railroad dining cars, steamships and millions of private homes—even yours and mine.

"Thousands of attractive window displays of the luscious apple fruit will remind the public of National Apple Week. And the apple, age old, tried and true—has it any day been the doctor's favorite fruit? Here are a few timely recipes that I know you will enjoy during apple week, as well as the other 51 weeks of the year."

APPLE COBBLER
1½ cups sifted pastry flour
1 cup milk
2 eggs, shortening (melted)
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 egg

A medium sized tart apples
1 cup sugar
1 cinnamon
Peel, core and slice apples. Put in bottom of buttered baking dish. Sprinkle a little sugar and cinnamon over them. Continue with layers of apples, sugar and cinnamon until apples are all used. Pour batter over them. Bake in hot oven (375 deg. F.) about 45 hours, apple with sweetened whipped

'SERVICE SMILE' MIXES WITH 'PAINTINESS'

Professionalized Woman Must Be Able to Put a Personal Touch to the Balanced Menus and Food Values

By NANCY BREWSTER
Food values and balanced menus partially arrayed table service.

Waitresses must know them. At least the ultra-modern ones should. So, too, must the tea-room hostesses. Home-making has entered the tea-room.

In fact, demanded of the experienced and "professionalized" tea-room and hotel worker are just these qualifications, and in the bargain, the background of a regulated home life from pie-baking ability to personality plus.

And, then, too, the intelligent light of newly christened child, and a psychological insight into the temperamental makeup of every guest who enters the portals of the eating emporium.

The perfect tea-room hostess, if you please, is the girl who has charm and tact, a service smile, and a psychological insight into the temperamental makeup of every guest who enters the portals of the eating emporium.

Mrs. Suzanne Kew Roy, principal of the Boston school of tea-room and hotel training, is responsible for this in Boston. She aims to glorify the tea-room and hotel service given. She aims to result it to the realm of a profession.

And most of all, she aims to place a business in every Boston hotel that home guests might feel right at home with someone to arrange bridge parties, tea, pink or blue, shop for them, and carry out the details of home-life.

NO END TO THE IDEA
The dream is of years' standing. The realization but a year old. But even in its infancy the school gives promise of untold success and untold power. The hotel men sponsor it with the de-

Did you listen in to the McIntosh Apple talk from WNAC Monday morning at 11:30? If you did miss the talk, you need not miss the apples. Native McIntosh apples are selling at 50c a pound, and it's hard to beat them for either cooking or eating. October 31 to November 8 is National Apple Week. You know, and you'll find some special apple recipes elsewhere in my column.

The vegetable counters are co-operating beautifully with the meat planner in variety and price. Sweet yellow onions, brussels sprouts, sweet and white potatoes, cranberries and squash are outstanding buys, and pumpkin, of course, have been enjoying special prominence.

A few eggs are retelling as high as 80c a dozen, with the pullet size of Massachusetts special eggs at 75c. These average 20 ounces or over in the dozen.

Lamb forequarters are reasonable at 18c to 20c a pound. Fresh pork prices are a bit higher, but ham is lower than a year ago. This week's prices on fresh-killed poultry are even more attractive to the homemaker than last week's quotations, and native fresh-killed turkey today is 75c. Many stores are offering 8 to 9 1/2-pound fowl cut up for freezers at $1 and $1.25.

Put prices in general are a bit higher, particularly hidecock, fillet of sole, and tinker mackerel.

CANDIDATES ARRANGE "VICTORY RALLIES" AS VOTING DAY NEARS

Throat gets much better in the next few hours will talk over the radio this evening in whispers.

As the great battle draws to a close, the usual political trick has been pulled off and the air, as usual, is red by chairs.

The "trick" is a victory rally of the "Good Government" campaign containing the "Records of Candidates for Mayor, Alphabetically Arranged."

The initiation is put out in the name of the "Women's Better Government League," a Curley organization, with office in Arlington St.

In form, shape, style, typing and like to two pages. One of the "ough investigation" strategy urged the attention of Frederick W. Mansfield, while the other, "after thorough investigation," strongly urged the election of James M. Curley.

Some of Mr. Curley's friends think it cleverly done. How the Good Government Association looks upon it, is told in the following statement:

We wish to call the voters' attention to a pamphlet lately in circulation in the name of the "Women's Better Government League," an organization formed during the course of this campaign in the name of the "Good Government Association."

This pamphlet, purporting to come from "The Women's Better Government League of Boston," contains a list of names, in type, makeup and general appearance of the circulars issued by the Good Government Association for the past 15 years. Certain paragraphs are copied word for word from our pamphlet of 1922.

This pamphlet, going into thousands of homes throughout the city, is palpable evidence of the attempt which are being made in the present campaign to deceive the voters. We warn them against further deceit of this kind.

The "complaint" came from Frederick W. Mansfield, who is a ally at the South End municipal building, West Brookline at and Shawmut ave., charged that men had been sent around to break up his meetings.

MANSFIELD HOKLED
All that really happened was that a South End man, who had told Curley end of the present debate tried a bit of heckling, when Mr. Mansfield paused to wipe his brow after a red-hot arraignment of Curley, threw a question at him, "How about the G. I. A.?"

"What?" replied Mansfield, "there's plenty of money being spent in this campaign on behalf of James M. Curley, why don't you go down and get some of it?"

Some of the $25,000 which Mansfield claims is being spent for Curley, he now declared was being "paid to hecklers," who are "sent around to stir up trouble."

"But I'll answer him, I am proud to have the endorsement of the Good Government Association in this campaign, just as I am proud to have the endorsement of other good citizens. Mr. Curley tried to get the G. I. A. endorsement this year, but it was denied him. But the G. I. A. does not own Mansfield, and neither does anyone else. You are listening to a free man, who does not fear James M. Curley or any member of the Curley gang."

WATCH LOMANEY
From now until Sunday afternoon the politicians of the town will be watching and waiting for news from Martin Lomanev and the Hendricks Club.

Some of Mansfield's friends have been hoping that Martin might choose the middle of the road this year, on the ground that each of the leading candidates is a good Democrat and his friend. The "wise" boys are telling, nevertheless, that Mr. Curley will be the Hendricks Club's guest of honor on Sunday.

In days that are no more, Mr. Curley was no better liked by the West End organization than the club by him. But in local politics this is forgiveness. That the "fits" and many others have done the Curleys think—the Hendricks Club can do.

FATE WITH G. O. P.
As we near the end I can see no reason for a change in the belief I have expressed as many times that the fate of the Massachusetts Legislature rests with the Republicans of this city. Mansfield, with no inconsiderable support from a Democratic following, but in better hands than the publicans come to him.

My own belief, as I have said before, is that the Republicans of "gang" politics will hold aloof, perhaps asking themselves why Mayor Nichols too, cannot take a "four years' vacation."

A Happy and Home Loving Trio

district attorney's office, if there is substance in them? Why all the hullabaloo, four years after the close of Mr. Curley's second term?

HALLEEN ARE PEPPIER
The Mansfield ladies last night were even more enthusiastic than those which had preceded them. Remembering how the president of the Bar Association began his fighting, a handsome figure on the Parkman Band-stand, I have witnessed an increase of Mansfield speakers from one to 30, or more. There were three young men among the Mansfield orators last night in American Hall, Otisfield at Roxbury, any of whom were worth going out to hear on a rainy night. These are former Rep. Hugo J. Campbell of ward 10, Louis J. Lynch of Dorchester and Max Ulin, attorney of the American Federation of Labor and his work in connection with the 24-hour law, the 34-11 hours bill of the street rail way men, and similar measures.

Louis Lynch took up an alleged sneer by Mr. Curley at Mansfield's Spanish War record, the point of the lunch argument being summed up in a question: "Where were YOU in '18, Mr. Curley? You were 25 years old. WHERE were you?"

Ulin spoke of Mansfield's years of service as the unpaid legislative attorney of the American Federation of Labor and his work in connection with the 24-hour law, the 34-11 hours bill of the street rail way men, and similar measures.

young man of the two-fisted variety, whose style is not unlike the style of the "Jim's." Curley of 20 years ago assailed Curley's "policy" and "style."

Campbell, who served four years in the House of Representatives, smiled it disgraceful that not one word has come from Democratic leaders in protest against the way in which Boston is and has been denied Home Rule.

ANNAIS CURLEY
He discussed the full-page Curley advertisement in yesterday's newspapers which, he said, must have cost $12,000. He talked of the names which appeared in that advertisement, saying that he "recalled two of them as gentlemen from the Old Howard."

The return of James M. Curley and his contractors to City Hall, Campbell declared, "will mean the closing of the Door of Opportunity to the young men of Boston. It will mean the establishment of Curley rule for so long a time as this man lives. No one can run for any office hereafter without first obtaining Curley's permission."

Another notable Mansfield rally was that in the Ward Room over in Charlestown, where 300 men and women heard Mansfield and his friends, with the exception, while several hundred more were assembled around the amplifiers in the street. After this meeting, one of the younger orators said that "Curley is going to have a awful licking," which is how these meetings inspire a fellow unless he also sees the other fellow.

2000 MARCH IN RAIN
Mr. Curley's most amazing meeting last night was held in the open air, at the corner of Curley and Tremont sts., where 2,000 men and women heard him. It was raining, remember.

There was another big Curley meeting in the Municipal Building over in South Boston, the second South Boston rally within the week. I attended Mr. Curley's meeting of the night, in Bishop Chas. school, East Boston.

It was not the most enthusiastic Curley crowd of the week, but it was friendly and respectful. The candidate's speech was not long, and his hour and a half of remarks in the ground from Dorchester to Charlestown, and had spoken six voters—Republicans, Democrats, everybody—are told that both Mr. Curley and Mr. Mansfield are members of the A. O. H.

"I wonder what Abigail Adams of Boston is going to say when she learns that this fellow Mansfield—member of the Academy of Political Science—is a Hibernian?" Curley ripped into Mansfield's labor record, naming "Joe" Parka, John Weaver Sherman, "Jim" Tarry and the late Henry Abrams as the authors of bills for which, according to Curley, Mansfield claims the credit.

"If he had more to do with them," Mr. Curley said, "then King Tut."

"Dan" Conkley marched into Le-mansville last night and from the platform of Credit Union Hall read from a newspaper of May 11, 1922, a statement by Mr. Lomanev to the Legislature to the effect that, "if all the people Curley has taken out from were placed in line, they would reach from here to Dedham."

the Coakley meeting in the West End when some of those present feared the cameras had reached a tragic moment. Mr. Coakley plainly was gasping for breath. His voice was little more than a whisper.

"I want to say to Martin while I am here," he declared, "that if he chooses Curley he will pick the wrong man in 1929 just as he did in 1925."

In Lyceum Hall, East Boston, where 600 heard him, Mr. Coakley brought in the name of Mayor Nichols. He called upon the Mayor to deny that he is with Curley.

"I hope, Mr. Mayor," he said, "that you don't believe Curley will help you to become United States Senator? Oh, he might, if John F. Fitzgerald were the Democratic candidate, but that would be almost ended. It may not last through Tuesday."

EDS RIGHT BACKGROUND

Eating places are anxious for such intelligence in their waitresses and their hostesses. The old idea of the waitress as a creature completely despatched. To be a waitress or a hostess today indicates a mind keenly cultivated along lines, home like and dietetic. Girls who will the smell of cooked foods, the pleasing aromas of a utilized kitchen, girls who in childhood were fond of domestic science and who liked to prepare the table for guests, these are the girls most eligible for the work.

We want the waitress and the hostess to smile and mean it. And make the guest feel the warmth and cordiality of the smile. We want the waitress to understand the guest. To be able to read the unwritten character. The hotel hostess must have the social consideration of hotel guests at heart.

The field for these types of workers is tremendously growing.

What with the mushroom growth of eating places in the past few years, the demand has proportionately mounted with outstanding rapidity. And the better the eating place the greater demand for trained waitresses and hostesses.

homemakers of the country, that

Woman's Strength in World Affairs Lauded by Nichols

Mayor Proves Himself Strong Booster for Feminine Movement

A MAN'S world? Not if you heard Mayor Nichols' eulogy of the fair sex.

Mayor Nichols is an ardent feminist.

If ever a man appreciated the possibilities of womanhood and considered it an honor to extol their influence and strength in the world today, the chief executive does.

And so he declared himself on the platform of the Hotel Statler ballroom where the New England Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries is in session. He welcomed these wonderful women as to city officials has, the information of his voice and the deliberate enunciation of his sentences were strengthening marks of conviction and sincerity.

The emancipation of womanhood was a phenomenon of the modern era, he stated, and man was constantly being puzzled and mystified at the magnificent achievements of and by women.

In a most glowing tribute to womanhood, Mayor Nichols told of Boston's indebtedness to the women of New England's indebtedness to its women. And of the vast influence they were exerting for good throughout the country at large.

The New England Exposition of Arts and Industries is the first of its kind sponsored in this part of the country. Women's progress from the day of the landing of the Mayflower to the present is educationally, commercially and politically, is demonstrated at the exposition and at the evening sessions, women exemplifying the progress.

In the presence of her husband, Mr. Allen brought greetings from the Commonwealth. Mrs. Nichols acknowledged the introduction presented to the gathering by Mrs. E. B. Tillinghast, chairman of immigration for New England, who presided.

And then came Mayor Nichols in all his glorification of womanhood. "There never was a time in history of the world when the influence of women was not potent to body power," he began. "Woman is indeed indebted to the women for the carrying on and the operation of many of its affairs, since women have been called upon to assist in the administration of the state."

"It has been my privilege to summon more women during my term of office to fill positions of high rank than was ever before known upon. For their own sake, their peace, their ability and their vision, the city owes much of its success."

The skill of women as exemplified in the work as shown here predicts a glowing future for New England. I am sure that more important to New England councils than meetings are the contributions made by New England women to the entire industrial fabric of this section of the country. The emancipation of women is a phenomenon of modern civilization. Men themselves wonder and are puzzled and mystified at the strides of advancement for in the household, Mrs. Man's world? It looks more like a woman's world."

ARGES DUTY AT HOME

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, United States Congresswoman, of Lowell, brought greetings from the world of politics in which she plays such an important part.

"Women started the movement for better pay and conditions for both men and women in industry, hope they continue," she said. "We must try to interest people in England to buy New England products. There are so many who don't know what we manufacture in New England. And we ought to try our own products. Every attempt is being made in the South to beat us by competition."

"New England has a right to fight her hardest in agriculture and in industry if she is to hold her own and do better."

The old idea that woman's power was endangered if she enjoyed higher education was laughably told by Mrs. Tillinghast in repeating the words of women's leaders throughout the years of the past. The rights and privileges which women attained under the law, she repeated, as she told of women belonging to a man's world and his cattle.

"Do you know that in the old days a woman's wages were her husband's?" That he could collect them and spend them as he wished? That a woman couldn't sue or be sued? That ever the children belonged to the father and that he could give them or will them away as he so desired, even before they were born? That if a woman inherited a fortune it was maliciously believed to her husband and that at his death he could leave her nothing but her dowry right, or one-third of her own property? That he could leave a more generous sum of her own inheritance on condition that she did not remarry? That a woman could make no will?

From such bondage has woman been removed. And into such liberation as she enjoys today, she has gradually, and through the changes woman has retained her ideals of the past and in her noble and dignified spirit, as this today the way to which was paved by the early pioneers. A Pinkerton detective is on duty.

Mayor, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Rogers, representing Armenia, Madame Amo Sarti, Russia, and Miss Mabel P. Friswell, England, were ushers at the president's tea staged by the Professional Women's Club at the Hotel Statler.

POOR METHODS AScribed TO COTTON MEN

Production must be controlled and haphazard shut-downs ended if the textile industry is to avert losses, and unnecessary periods of unemployment, Lincoln Baylies, re-elected president, told members of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at their annual dinner in the Copple-Plaza.

Mergers, consolidations, group actions or any other methods of control will be of little lasting benefit until the individuals responsible for the operation and management of the units of our industry learn that careful control of production, based on accurate market conditions, is the best insurance for the people in our mills," Baylies declared.

Substitution of mutual confidence for the spirit of sectionalism now existing was advocated by Congressman Scott Lovett of Montana. Officers re-elected in addition to Pres. Baylies, were: Philip Dana of Westbrook, senior vice pres.; Irving Southworth, Lawrence, junior vice pres.; S. Harold Greene of Boston, president; Frank B. Hutton, Jr., of Salem, president; George E. Hutton, of Lowell, president; and Ward Thorne, representative to the National Council of American Cotton Manufacturers.

Value of Milk-Cracker Mid-Morning Lunch

"For many children the milk at school is a valuable aid in the educative process," A. G. Ireland, Director of Physical Education and Health, State of Connecticut.

"For those children for whom the supplying of an adequate breakfast at the home cannot be secured or who are otherwise in need of extra feeding, the mid-morning luncheon of clean milk or of milk and crackers has proved of benefit," John J. Tigert, Commissioner, U. S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.

"Milk luncheon in the schools has been an educational as well as nutritional experience, both for the teacher and the children," Mabel Bragg, Associate Superintendent of Schools, Newton, Mass.

"Milk is the one indispensable food for children. The diet during this entire growth period should include if possible whole milk or if skimmed milk is used, it should be supplemented by butter," L. Emmett Holt, M. D., L.L.D., (Food, Health and Growth).

AIR THRILLS IN NEW MEHERIN SERIAL

He faced death to save the girl he loved but just then fate played her most cruel trick. The plane swooped down into a tangle that stabbed the sky with flames of burning.

Here is the supreme thrill in a serial that sets a new standard in American fiction. "Miss Fox" by Eleanor Meherin, author of "Chiclets". Although she is the author of hits that have swept the country and established new records for popularity, it is doubtful if Miss Meherin has ever created a story that will fire the imagination and stir the pulse as much as "Miss Fox".

It's an up-to-date as this second—thrilling, throbbing romance of the air turned up with drama, action and a love theme that keep the excitement at fever pitch. Start "Miss Fox" first Monday in the Boston Evening American.

Romance in Which Love Scores Triumph

From Duke Van Pelt's story starring Maria Nines in her first all-talking, all-singing motion picture, produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

CHAPTER II

VERY still—the kitchen of the old farmhouse the night the Americans had left.

The children were put to bed after dinner, but Andre sat by the big wooden chair before the fireplace. He was waiting for young Jean Michel to come and lead him back to his own lodging a quarter of a mile further down the highway.

Marianne sat close by. In her lap the inevitable pile of small wooden house which needed darning.

Still . . . still . . . Marianne found herself nervously watching the clock.

Like a dream—sitting here so quietly in this red light with Andre Marianne found herself holding the clock with an intense and unreasoning hatred. What did the old clock care if the moment it ticked off were warm and joyous with life or filled only with this hopeless ache?

The dreadful silence! She had gotten how still the night could be when there was no outburst of anything long from the barn. No snore on the porch. Would it be like this way now?

The joy of a rich life over-leaving her in the darkness and black silence. She jumped and screamed slightly at Andre's propelling hand had found her chest.

"Marianne, you are crying!"

"No, no, no!" she choked. "So dreadfully still!"

"You miss them—the Americans?"

"Yes, yes—very, very, always the same!" She could not go on.

"Yes . . . it is still. It was always the same, but once it did not mind. Now they have gone—your friends. It is their loss, you miss. Their footsteps . . ."

His voice trailed away. They sat for a long moment motionless in the flickering light.

Marianne wiped the tears away with Nettie's little rough sock. Her eyes went timidly over to Andre. His clear features—the high temples showing a tracery of blue veins—made her think of a cameo brooch her aunt had given her.

There was the head of a Gray boy on the brooch and now in Andre's eyes she recognized the same nobility of line.

Small snobs and his voice said: "Marianne, you are young. Do you think you are old?"

He had instinctively turned toward her as he spoke and the firelight was reflected in his large blue eyes and still those little eyes. Marianne's heart went into a rush of pity. Her warm little hand lay on his.

"Such a silly question, Andre!"

"Yes, this is no longer a home here. It will be used to it again in a few days . . ."

But a few days . . . but the arch in her heart did not beat. Andre's hand was on her lost boy.

Jacques more than the other child missed the American. He had discovered him in the barn lying face down on the hay cradle.

"It is Maurice!" came the boy's muffled voice from the cradle.

"So strong he was, like a bull!" he would teach me to ride. Americans prize him. And he was how he taught me that funny way.

And she remembered the barn, while cold morning light shined in on them through the slats, while the pigeons in the dusky rafters talked their over in established cooing. Marianne could see Jacques in her arms and found him tears in his eyes.

When Andre came, later that night, he spoke of marriage.

"Are you still determined to marry me, to throw up all your own will?"

"Andre! my poor Andre! you must say that you are free to be free!"

Her hand had gone loyally to his shoulder, but the girl was "in" to the lips.

"I have a small income, as you know, Marianne," he went on. "It is not much—but it will help when I come here you need not work so hard."

"I do not mind the work," she said in a stified voice. "They help me when they grow of me. Oh, how they help, Andre! That little Jacques—a man is getting to be a man."

Gaily she chattered of the children. Of the way they worked about the house. Words were a wall which she was building against the reluctance in her own heart. Perhaps Andre felt it. He fell silent.

Andre came each day to the farmhouse, but he did not bring up the subject again.

He was teaching the children their lessons. His long, wasted figure moved among his chattering charges. Marianne was his helper. Something about the mischievous young youngster which seemed to draw the broken man. Andre laugh rang out frequently at Franco's naughtiness. His long thin hand rested frequently at Franco's curly mop.

For some curious reason Marianne was glad Jacques was not his favorite. She liked to think that Jacques still remembered him.

Only three in the little group around Andre now. Andre's hand had gone, time in a tense little drama he had been too young to appreciate.

GOODWIN STATE AUTO FUND PETITION APPROVED

AUTO RATES PETITION APPROVED

Goodwin's Initiative Asks for New Law Governing Compulsory Insurance

Atty-Gen. Joseph E. Warner today approved the form of Frank A. Goodwin's initiative petition for a State fund to care for compulsory automobile insurance.

The petition asks for the repeal of the present act and the passage of an act taking compulsory insurance from the private companies and investing it in a State fund, to be made a corporation and operated by a commission and two associates.

The rates under the new act would be $16 for passenger cars, $18 for motorcycles, $25 for trucks and $24 for taxis and buses.

There is a proviso that if the State fund created by these assessments proves inadequate to meet claims, the rates may be increased; if it is shown the fund is more than ample, the rates may be lowered.

The commissioner directing would receive $2000 annually and his associates $5000 each.

The attorney-general approved the form without comment. It was the fourth along the same line submitted to him by the former vehicle registrar, now chairman of the Boston Finance Commission.

The other three were rejected as being in proper form.

Goodwin must now file the petition with Secretary of State and place it before the Legislature. He must obtain 20000 signatures before the first Wednesday in December.

If he obtains the signatures and the Legislature passes the act it should become law.

Should the Legislature reject the petition, Goodwin may put it on the ballot in 1930 by obtaining 5000 additional signatures.

PORTABLE SCHOOLS IMPERIL 7000 CHILDREN, SAYS MRS. BARRON

APPEALS FOR 'YES' VOTE ON REFERENDUM

No Other City or Town Would Tolerate Boston's Present Conditions, She Says

No other city or town in Massachusetts would tolerate the shameful conditions under which 7000 Boston children study in portable schools, Mrs. Jennie Lottman Barron of the school committee declared today.

Mrs. Barron issued her statement in the interests of the referendum on the bill creating a department of school buildings and a board of commissioners of school buildings in Boston.

She appealed for a "yes" vote on the referendum, which she declared would mean the end of portable schoolhouses "and the shameful waste of money."

APPEALS TO MOTHERS.

"If the mothers of the school children in Boston actually knew the conditions that exist as they have come to my knowledge during the four years I have served on the school committee that a 'yes' vote would be unanimous," said Mrs. Barron.

"I took the temperature in portable schools last winter during a hard weather and in no instance was it more than 45 degrees at desk level. This is only four degrees warmer than the interior of the best electric refrigerator."

"Of course the floor was even colder. I found many instances where slabs of wood and hickory were placed on the floor to add some measure of comfort to the children's feet."

RISKS FOR PROTECTION.

"I found that one parent had brought rags from his home and had them placed upon the walls near his child's desk to prevent exposure to drafts of cold air. I found also that the children who were obliged to sit close in the stove placed in one end of the room were uncomfortably hot most of the time."

"On several occasions the janitor came in while I was visiting these portable schools to attend to the fire-baking down, thus interfering with the class work and filling the room with coal gas, smoke and heat. Many complaints from mothers have been reported, accompanied with doctors' certificates showing the injurious effect of these conditions upon the children and requesting that they be removed to a permanent building. Several such adjustments were made during my term on the school committee."

Six Families Routed by $25,000 Blaze

Three families' early today turned from Halloween thoughts to the serious task of getting out of a burning dwelling when fires swept through a four-story apartment house on Brookline st., Cambridge, set an adjacent furniture storage building ablaze and threatened another large dwelling house. Damage totaled more than $25,000.

The motorists raced through smoke-filled corridors and by ringing bells, locking doors and shouting succeeded in awakening the sleeping occupants including several small children.

The heroes of the fire were James Nichols, 28, at Cambridge; Roger Quilley, 40, at Cambridge; and Richard Westland, 35, at Brighton. They were returning from a Halloween party when they discovered the fire.

Assisting them in the rescue work was Aubrey Wyndham Hamilton, 31, Cambridge, who sounded an alarm.

Among the throng of spectators gathered by the spectacular fire were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, who occupy the top floor, made their way to the street with their own child. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green, occupying the third floor, took one child each as they fled.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartford and one child, occupied a second floor apartment. John and Edward Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown and family, in the adjacent house, fled when the fire broke out.

PROGRAMS FROM GERMANY
FOR N.B.C.

Starting immediately three experimental programs will be directed to the NBC each day by the German Broadcasting Company.

through a short-wave station recently erected especially for the purpose at Königswusterhausen. An effort to work out a schedule for their reception and re-broadcasting will be continued until the signal quality is considered worthy of being placed on a regular broadcast basis for stations associated with the NBC.

Programs, when found available, will be of special nature, bringing from Germany broadcasts typical of that nation, and sending to Germany programs typically American.

The International radio alliance proposed early last summer during a visit to Germany by M. H. Ayleworth and C. W. Horn, for the NBC, was furthered a few weeks later when a delegation of German broadcast officials came here. Word of it reached the United States on yesterday.

FORD PRICES REDUCED

Detroit, Nov. 1.—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, announced substantial reductions in the price of Ford cars and trucks.

While Ford's announcement did not state the amounts of reductions, it is understood prices will be lowered $5 to $200. His statement follows:

"We are announcing a substantial reduction in the price of Ford cars and trucks.

"It is our belief that basically the industry and business of the country are sound. Every indication is that general conditions will remain prosperous.

"We are reducing prices now because we feel that such a step is the best contribution that can be made to assure a continuation of good business throughout the country. Our dealers are assisting in the move by accepting a reduction in their accounts.

"It has always been the policy of this company to pass on to the public as rapidly as possible the advantages of quantity production and newly developed manufacturing efficiencies."

100 Registrations Found to Be Illegal

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Col. William Hayward, special deputy attorney general in charge of election trials, said today that more than 100 indictments have been drawn alleging illegal registration and will be handed up in general sessions.

He said warrants will be issued and given to the police for execution election day or before, if possible.

Nova Scotia 2 to 1 for Liquor Control Law

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 1 (AP).—After a plebiscite in which Government sale of liquor received greater popular approval than prohibition, leaders of various factions today were convinced that the result would be an end to prohibition in Nova Scotia.

There were two questions, as follows:

Are you in favor of continuing the Nova Scotia temperance act?

Are you in favor of the sale of alcoholic liquor under a Government control act?

A majority voted yes on each question, but the vote for Government control exceeded by more than 24,000 the number who voted for retention of the prohibition law. Leaders of both factions agreed that the result indicated approval of Government sale of liquor, but Premier E. N. Rhodes said he would await more complete information before announcing an act of Nova Scotia.

The vote with only 45 small polls missing out of a total of 1137 was:

Form Combine to Build Cup Yacht

A group of prominent Wall Street men and yachting enthusiasts headed by Landon K. Thorne has formed the Thorne syndicate to design and build a fourth "Cup" yacht as a candidate to defend the America's Cup.

The yacht is to be designed by L. Francis Herreshoff and will differ from others which will seek to represent America in that it will be wooden planked with steel frame, a similar form of construction to that used by Nicholson, the designer of Shamrock V. The yacht is being built at Lawry's, Newport.

For the temperance act, 61,922 against, 56,361.

For Government control, 58,079 against, 41,139.

Abandonment of prohibition in Nova Scotia would place the small province of Prince Edward Island alone in the dry condition of Canadian provinces. The Nova Scotia temperance act, which permits sale of liquor by license, is one of the most stringent in the world.

Only on physicians' prescriptions was alcohol sold in 1928 by a majority of 55,000. Under Government control, consumption of intoxicants would be permitted in homes and hotel rooms.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP).—The first airplane to operate directly between New York and Buenos Aires, an eight-passenger Sikorsky amphibian, christened Bahía, left Roosevelt field on route to South America today.

The ship's first stop will be Washington, and she will take off on her long trip over water from Tampa, Fla. Her owners, New York-Rio Buenos Aires Line, Inc., expected the Bahía to reach Buenos Aires in 11 flying days.

No passengers were carried on this first trip.

Malden Man Fined $100 for Drunkenness

Lawton, Me., Nov. 1 (AP).—A fine of $100 and costs was given Edward P. Lawry, 36, of 128 Boston St., Malden, Mass., by Justice Fales after he had pleaded guilty to driving here today while under the influence of liquor.

Pipers to Play at Big Curley Rally, But They're Scotch

Altho such James M. Curley, one of the three candidates for mayor, is of Irish descent, Scotch pipers will play at his big rally in Symphony Hall tomorrow night.

All sorts of his publicity forces did not explain why Irish pipers had not been engaged.

Springfield Stores to Open Armistice Day

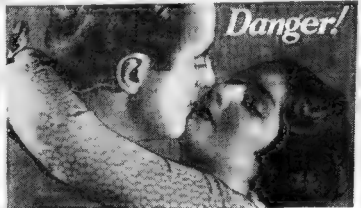

Springfield, Nov. 1 (AP).—The Merchants' Bureau, advised, it is said, by prevailing economic conditions and the already large number of legal holidays, voted unanimously today to keep stores open Armistice Day.

The precedent set by Worcester merchants was cited.

World War veteran organizations are expected to protest. Economical action by the merchants regarding Columbus Day was recommended in the face of claims raised by groups interested in its observance as a holiday.

Week-End Fishing Trip for Hoover

Washington, Nov. 1 (AP).—Ideal Indian summer weather caused President Hoover to decide today upon a trip to his fishing camp on the Rapidan river over the week end.

HOW AL MARSTERS SPENDS TIME BETWEEN TOUCHDOWNS

Al Marsters, Dartmouth ace and leading scorer, isn't always making touchdowns, as one might suppose after the Harvard-Dartmouth game. Al is a regular fellow, as the accompanying unconventional photos show. Al likes to read, plays a good game of bridge, and when not polishing up on grid plays, shines up the old "boller." International News-reel photos.

JUST A DUMMY IN THIS GAME

The battle between the Green and the Blue will offer a couple of extra attractions, due to the fact that the two outstanding backs in Eastern football Al Marsters and Albin Booth, will oppose each other. Harvard will entertain the University of Florida over in the stadium, and expects to swing back into its winning ways. Despite the fact that the "Gators" were supposed to be one of the strongest organizations in the South. There will be two more intercollegiate games played in the Princeton meeting Chicago and West Point playing South Dakota, while Notre Dame is down in Atlanta primed to avenue the 19 to 0 defeat it suffered at the hands of Georgia Tech last season.

COLUMBIA VS. CORNELL

As Columbia is playing Cornell in the East, and Fordham is in the N. Y. University-Georgetown game, the major attraction in the North Atlantic is the battle between the "Reds" and the "Blue." The game is expected to be a close one, with both teams having a good record this year. The former losing Fordham and the latter the West-ern Maryland.

Coach Joe McKinnon has not made any special preparations for the game, but he expects Cornell to continue its winning ways. The expense of the North Atlantic is a little more than a year ago, but it is expected to be a good one. The game is expected to be a close one, with both teams having a good record this year. The former losing Fordham and the latter the West-ern Maryland.

TITLE GAMES IN MAINE

Down in Maine, the second round of the Pine Tree State championship is being played. The game is expected to be a close one, with both teams having a good record this year. The former losing Fordham and the latter the West-ern Maryland.

Of the three Western Conference games, the greatest interest is centered around the Purdue-Wisconsin battle up in Indiana. Already Purdue has won two "Big Ten" games, having defeated Michigan and Chicago. The Sooner-Bears are apparently on their way to the Conference championship, and should defeat Wisconsin, a team which has already been beaten by Northwestern, Notre Dame and Iowa. The undefeated Minnesota team, which has only played one while white opponent, Northwestern, is playing Indiana. Minnesota, the weakest team in the "Big Ten," while Northwestern and Illinois are clashing in Evanston. The Illinois have one Conference victory, Michigan has two, and Iowa, to its credit. But at 7 to 0 on Wisconsin, they dropped a 26 to 14 game to Minnesota.

WISCONSIN STRONG

Fresh from the last week's victory over Georgia Tech in New Haven, the University of Southern California is expected to play the University of Georgia at Columbia. Although a green team, Tulsa is enjoying one of its best seasons, having won up five consecutive victories, while Georgia met with its first upset of the season last week when it fell before Florida.

With the State championship at stake, the University of Southern California, the only undefeated, untied team on the coast, is expected to play the University of California, a team which has played in the University of California, Stanford in Los Angeles. Stanford went down before U. S. C. last week, but the betting is even that the Golden Bears will administer a Southern California football setback of the season.

Two other games, which are attracting great interest, are the University of Pittsburgh-Ohio State contest, which will be played in Columbus, O., and the University of Texas-M. U. game, which is expected to be played in Austin, Texas. The outstanding college game in the Southwest and in the South is the Southern Methodist-back is not as inconsistent as it may seem. With the possible exception of Harper, Putnam is regarded as the best running back in the Harvard outfit. It is also more than a safe bet that Putnam will be the safety man for Harvard when the Gators are in the field. Putnam is a very sure fingered young man when it comes to handling high spirals, and understands the art of running back punts as well as any player the Crimson can boast of.

The Dartmouth coaches managed to get their first string aggregation together for the first time this week as preparation for the Yale contest closed with a fairly light workout. Al Marsters and Hal Andres were back at their posts.

Charlie Nimmo, center, is slated to open up in the line tomorrow and should be service by late afternoon. Crehan will be the public sale of about 50,000 more postcards is expected to over 50,000.

Tickets will be on sale at various downtown sporting goods stores and at the H. A. A. office. In addition to the Harvard-Yale spectacle, the stadium crowd will have another treat in store for them. During the progress of the game they will be able to follow the play by play story of the Dartmouth-Yale tussle in the Bowl. Arrangements for this have been made with Western Union officials, and the game in the Bowl will be carried on the new "grid-graph," erected for this purpose over the steel stands.

DEACON WAITE TIGER CAPTAIN

Frank "Deacon" Waite, center and leading scorer of the Boston Tigres, was elected captain of the club following the daily practice session. The Deacon is playing his second year in the varsity, having been purchased from Springfield last year.

He is a native of Qu'Appelle, Sask., and broke into professional hockey with Vancouver under Frank Patrick. He played two years in the minor leagues, but was shifted to center as soon as he came to Boston.

Last season his dizzy stick handling broke apart every defense in the league and was one of the greatest single assets of the club in its campaign for the championship.

The game starts at 2 p. m.

Green Eleven Given Rousing Sendoff

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 1.—The Dartmouth student body gave a rousing sendoff to the Green eleven on the eve of its departure for the annual battle with Yale.

A huge bonfire in the center of the campus and the clanging of bells summoned the students to the ball at 8 o'clock. The college band led the singing and cheers every member of the Indian team. Ingalls to Play for Tufts

An easy season with a short blackboard drill will be all that Coaches Simpson, Manley and Lowe will give the Tufts squad on the final day before the game with Boston University.

The starting backfield has not been definitely settled and in the case of some conjecture, the men to start being named before the game.

Norm Ingalls, in view of his great ball carrying during the week and his work in the New Hampshire game will be a favorite to start in place of Muskavitz at halfback.

LeMaitre arena sure to start the kicking while LeCain is the probable choice in the pilot position. The fullback duties will be filled by Gibbons or Holland, with Holland having the edge at present. Gibbons' ankle injury, received in the latter game still causing him trouble.

The same line that started last week seems to be sure to start intact against the Terriers.

ELI SQUAD FOR FINAL PRACTICE

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 1.—In order to be sure that none of the players will be kept from the Dartmouth game tomorrow on account of injuries, Head Coach Mal Stevens kept his squad out of scrimmage and instead sent three players through a fast signal drill.

It was announced by H. F. Woodcock, general manager of the Yale Athletic Association, that permission was granted to the National Broadcasting Company to transmit an account of Saturday's game, after requests had poured in from all parts of the country asking that it be done.

The broadcast of the game will begin about 1:30 with Graham McMenais at the microphone.

The Elis will have a light workout in the Bowl this afternoon in final preparation for the game. The Dartmouth eleven will not have a pre-game practice in the Bowl, but will pass tonight in their morning down Saturday morning.

Head Coach Stevens did not specify any team in practice as being the first eleven, but instead composed two teams of equal strength each having players from the regular team. These two teams had a supervised scrimmage, with no facemasks being made and no attempt to run the ball beyond the line of scrimmage.

Defense against the forward pass was given special attention.

The Yale squad is in fine physical condition and expects the Dartmouth game as probably the hardest of the season.

CUP RACE TODAY AT HARVARD

Harvard will sponsor the second open intercollegiate race this afternoon. The runners' contest will be a 21 former Harvard track captain. The cup was given a year ago in order to promote cross-country runs as a competitive sport. It gives a chance to those men who have no opportunity to compete in intercollegiate races. Teams from Harvard, Clark College, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Springfield and New Hampshire will take part in the race. The idea behind this cross-country run is to get our second string runners in shape for the season. Accordingly all freshmen and sophomores will be entered. The race is to be held in New England and sectional meets are eligible to participate.

Undeclared B. C. High Eleven Clashes With Rindge

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

HARD GAME AT ROSSETT FIELD TODAY

Boston College high school grid team, with a record for the season faces the hardest assignment of the fall when it stacks up against a heavy, veteran, and capable Rindge Tech eleven.

The Eagles from James at may be handicapped in this game by the weakness of four of the stars. Capt. Kelly, Harvey, Ott, and Cronin.

Robb Ott is quarterback of the right and left tackles of the team, respectively. These two men are the main reasons for the success of the B. C. attack. They know how to handle themselves and how to keep the offense clicking.

If the injuries of the four players mentioned do not prevent them from playing the whole game, B. C. high is a good chance to win without any of the quarter backs.

Tom Murphy has the Rindge squad ready for the battle today. Rindge and B. C. Tech have been rivals for years, and the Cambridge lads are anxious to win. Boyle and Sarasky are the Kings of the Rindge offense. Boyle, in particular, will prove a tough line player for the opposition to stop. He is a heavy and a very hard.

The B. C. high-Rindge Tech clash should be one of the best of the week of school football.

The other grid games this afternoon are: Bridgman at Cambridge, Maine; Medford at New Bedford; Exeter, and Worcester Community at Malden.

JACK CONWAY

JIMMY BYRNE, Louisville heavyweight, has entrenched himself at Dave Doherty's gym in Cambridge, where he is getting ready for his 10-round bout with George Godfrey, said Mr. Boston today.

Byrne at the Arena the other night and was surprised at his confidence in regard to the meeting with Godfrey.

It seems to me that the London sign on these men is a good one. I had a shot at Godfrey in Philadelphia last summer, gave him a good lesson, and he was down when one of his overhand right hands paralyzed him.

Godfrey is a big, powerful fellow, but I am not afraid of him. I have moved around him, and I have won. I have won. I have won.

HAVE BEEN ASKED whether I consider Alvin Roth as great a football player as Al Marsters. White is in the game, he doesn't have to be a great player, but I think I had to pick him up as one of the best.

FOOTBALL is an even rougher game than boxing which is a new one to travel. One cannot spot the opposition too much weight in any game where power and crashing attack are important.

Youngstrom in Role of Albion Booth

HANOVER, N. H.—Bred Youngstrom, Dartmouth line coach, has won the role of Albion Booth while the Bruins are intermingling a Yale team. Or perhaps he is cast as Tom Rains. ACCENT IS BIG PROBLEM OF TALKIES

TALKIES

ACCENT problems are an important feature in a talking motion picture such as "The Virginia," now at the uptown and Olympia, Washington st. For Paramount's all dialogue picture, the vocalization of "The Virgin Cooper had to acquire a westernized accent. Mary Dean was forced to forget the soft drawl of the south.

Walter Huston had to replace a New York accent's inflections with those of an early Wyoming cattle ranger and Richard Arlen the intimations of the circus performer for those of the cowboy.

Cooper's problem was the most difficult. An orthodox Dixie drawl had to be tempered with character he portrays had lived on the open range of the West after leaving his native Virginia. As "Buddy" Rogers leading man in "River of Romance" Miss Brian portrayed a Southern girl and had music to receive her own East Texas daisy for the part. Without a day's delay after finishing that role she stepped into the character of Molly Wood, a girl from Vermont, in "The Virginian."

High Waistline Gains in Popularity With Leaders for Formal Day Wear and New Creations for Evening

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

Skirts Also Medium for Day Wear, Quite Long for Evening

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, France, Nov. 1.—The most frequently quoted line of the season must undoubtedly be the waistline. Although there is still some rivalry between the advocates of the high and medium waist, things seem to be on a somewhat more clearly defined basis.

Many women have solved the problem, by wearing the waist at its natural moorings for their tailored and informal day clothes, and are subscribing to the higher line for their formal day and evening clothes.

The same can be said of the skirt length, medium for day wear, and quite long for evening. A sensible compromise that must be acceptable to women whose days are filled with activities and so demand that their clothes be comfortable and business like, as well as good looking. Two requirements are necessary for the tailored frock that seems to have ousted the strictly sports frock, for sports wear appears to be on the decline. By which we mean that sports clothes are rarely seen at various places and times during the day as was the case for some time past. The mode demands formality without compromise when it comes to the correct costume.

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

SHOWN here is a charming and practical tailored frock from Jane Regny. It is in yellow and black and is one of the tweeds worn exclusively for this house. It is effective with the yellow bands applied at the neckline and sleeves. A black leather belt is worn at the natural waistline. Diagonal pleats across the front of the skirt run down the sides, ending in a group of pleats. The jacket on the bodice is simulated by flat applied pieces of the yellow fabric.

THE sport ensemble shown here from Wanda Watazaki is really being doing duty on the golf courses in and near Biarritz. It is of navy blue and gray tweed jersey and uses dark blue plain jersey to trim it and line the coat. The belt is of varnished blue leather. The amusing little jacket slopes down and is rounded at the back.

LESSONS IN AUCTION BRIDGE

By WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD

This deal illustrates the conventional handling, when able, of a weak-suit (North's bidding). The Auction bidding as given above is based upon the principle that the normal way to show two suits is to name the higher ranking suit first and subsequently, if necessary, the lower, in order that partner (when both are bid) may show his preference for the suit first named without increasing the contract. To reverse this order of showing two suits, that is, to bid the lower first and then the higher, denies a Quick Trick (the Ace or King-Queen) in the higher ranking suit subsequently bid.

Suasive Points of Bidding: No comment is required on South's pass and West's original one Heart bid. North has a powerful South with which, in order to arrive at the best bid between the partnership hands, it may be necessary to show both suits. Holding a King in Hearts and no Diamonds, North figures his partner's distribution may be equally freakish and despite his great strength bids no more than necessary to overcall West's Heart in order to have open every possible approach to the best partnership bid. East, holding but two of his partner's Hearts and a seven-card Diamond suit, overcalls with two Diamonds.

South and West passing, North shows his second suit, Clubs, which is the smoke of the East's interest among the local social and musical circles of Greater Boston, will take place at Symphony Hall on Tuesday evening, November 19, at 8:15 and is under the auspices of the Consumers' League of Massachusetts.

The sponsors, who are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stiles Whitwell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hollowell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ingraham, Mr. and Mrs. John Graham Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. E. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Sewall Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Heath, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steiner, feel that it is going to be a great success.

only North bid East as well has a forcing overall. Thus North's two Spade bid and East's four Dia- mond bid show both players to be equally partners of keeping the trump open and finding out from their respective partners the trick possibilities of the combined hands and their "fitability."

The four diamond club shuts out South but enables West to bid for game, and North forcing all-clear may make five Diamonds or more and willing to take a reasonable loss to prevent such a reverse game, his five Spades. East as he is from showing the Club suit.

The Play

East leads initially the singleton Ace of Clubs and follows with the 9 of Hearts which West wins with the Queen. West's correct response to East's lead of the Club Ace and his bid, is a small Club. Clearly East does not want a Diamond return and either Hearts or Spades are out of the question. East trumps the Club thus setting the artificial line.

Enstein Invention

Berlin, Nov. 1.—Dr. Albert Enstein of relatively fame. It is reported to have invented a new apparatus, suitable for household use for the electrical production of light.

The NEW CINEMA has concentrated the north-country type of doing things. It is a member of Columbia Talking Pictures fame. The lovely hair is a striking example to show the importance of proper care.

Monroe hair dresses add beauty to your hair by graceful lines and combs. It is just as important to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant, rich in color.

Millions of girls and women are doing this at home with ease and help of Danderine. It is so simple to use. All you do is put a little on your brush each time you arrange your hair. It brings out the natural color of dingy, lousy hair, makes it more sparkling and lustrous than brilliant, makes it easy to manage. And it holds the hair in place for hours.

The consistent use of Danderine makes the crown of dandruff, keeps falling hair, tends to make the hair grow long, silvery and abundant. Five million bottles sold a year is proof of its merit.

Helen B. Allen, Carolyn Dubois, Charlotte S. Gosly, Priscilla Prince and Dorothea Newman Are Presented

THIS NOON A LUNCHEON took place at the Algonquin Club in honor of Miss Helen B. Allen, with her mother, Mrs. Francis P. Allen, as hostess. Sixty debutantes surrounded the tables which were pleasantly decorated with lovely pruner roses. Miss Allen looked most smart in a champagne colored pan velvet, with a felt and velvet hat on the same tone. Her carriage of tallness roses and ardentia bedecked perfectly. Mrs. Allen's chiffon velvet dress was black, as was also her hat. Miss Dorothy Hall, Miss Katherine Robinson and Miss Helen Shepard were invited to assist.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK C. SHEPARD presented their attractive twin daughters, the Misses Carolyn Dubois and Charlotte S. Gosly, at a tea at their home on Englewood ave. in Brookline, today. They were similarly gowned in egg shell satin evening dresses. BIG EXCHANGES CLOSED FOR TWO DAYS

By FRANK H. MULLON
Financial Editor

New York Stock Exchange, New York Curb Exchange, the Boston Stock Exchange and other exchanges were closed for two days today and tomorrow, appearing confident that the price recovery that set in Wednesday and was extended yesterday will continue for an indefinite period.

Speculators who could share that feeling. Unfortunately, he is not willing to predict that the current sharp rally will continue very long.

First, he understood that this writer is not a professional bear. Whenever circumstances permit, he is aligned on the bull side. Even today he is not actually bearish, but merely warns capitalists to exercise the utmost caution in the market for the next few sessions.

True, the market has been enguaged in a wave of bullish news from corporations, optimistic utterances from bankers, industrialists and financiers and encouraging developments in the credit situation.

All these factors seem to point to a broader upward movement when the stock exchange becomes active next week. Ordinarily, Speculator would agree that an extension of the rally is in order.

Story of Big Losses Is Much Overdrawn, Says Cousins

By W. K. COUNS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Every body who bought stocks of American corporations since August 1928 has held on to his shares purchased at any time previous, has sold them at the lowest of the late at the height of Tuesday's debacle in the stock market, and has been left with the loss of his investment in the stock market.

The facts of the matter, however, will hardly bear out such reports. While millions of dollars in this country have been lost since the end of January, the losses have been gradually and steadily receding to lower price levels, with never the faintest signs of a general recovery. Vote for Schoolhouse Referendum—Commission Has Been Awarding Contracts Without Competition on Bids

THE Boston city charter requires competition in city contracts for more than $1000 in the aggregate of various items of similar character.

Yet, between Feb. 1, 1925, and Sept. 30, 1928, the Boston Schoolhouse Commission awarded contracts, WITHOUT COMPETITION, amounting to $4,555,890.30 for alteration and repair of schools. That was 82 per cent of the total sum spent for alterations and repairs.

How was that possible?

President Lowell, of Harvard, member of the Survey Committee of the Boston Schools, told the Legislative Committee on Cities:

"We found great quantities of contracts just under $1000, running up to $900—a great many of them between $800 and $900 and SOMETIMES FIVE OF THOSE AWARDED IN ONE DAY TO THE SAME PERSON. That certainly is not carrying out the intent of the law."

It is a safe assumption that competitive bidding on four and one-half million dollars' worth of contracts would have saved the city a substantial sum.

On schoolhouses in 10 years, Boston has spent $43,278,896 and Mrs. Jennie Lottman Barron of the School Committee estimates that under a more efficient system the city would have saved 10 per cent—or $4,327,889.

Boston voters will have the opportunity next Tuesday of putting a more efficient system into effect.

VOTE "YES" ON THE SCHOOLHOUSE REFERENDUM AND SAVE TAXPAYERS' MONEY—YOUR MONEY.

Alas! Poor Farmers

They Always Share the Slump

(Copyright, 1929)

FORTUNATE are the farmers that, without waiting for "farm relief," sold their wheat some time ago, when it was nearly fifty cents a bushel higher than the closing price of "blue Thursday," the day of Wall Street sorrow.

On that blue and sad day everybody in the Chicago Wheat Pit wanted to sell at once.

The problem of the Farm Board is not an easy one. Farm products did not share in the boom in stocks, but they share abundantly in the collapse.

Great Comet Authority

By ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

ONE of the greatest names in American science is Bernard

Barrow, the greatest authority on comets who has ever lived.

During his life-time honors were showered upon him. Positions of distinction, honorary degrees, medals of various learned societies in this country and abroad were given him.

But throughout it all he remained modest, dignified and unaffected.

He was a host of devoted friends

by his entire self-abnegation and marked kindness of spirit.

A notable tribute was paid his memory in commemorative exercises, by the American Association for the Advancement of Science at a recent meeting in Nashville, Tennessee, Barnard's birthday.

BORN on December 16, 1857,

Edward Emerson Barnard

suffered many hardships as a boy from his long apprenticeship to a photographer, he learned invaluable secrets concerning the science and art of photography.

This knowledge proved of incalculable value to him later throughout his entire career as an astronomer.

By means of this fund he was enabled to buy a house for his mother, a widow, and to continue his astronomical observations.

Barrow is credited with the original discovery of sixteen comets.

In 1892, while observing with his small telescope the great comet of that year, he found several companion comets to it, which were also independently discovered elsewhere.

THE remarkable and fruitful photographic work he performed at the Lick Observatory suffices in itself to render his career memorable. He used an old portrait lens formerly used in a photography gallery in San Francisco. Because of the extraordinary skill he displayed in the use of this lens, it became famous as the Willard lens of the Lick Observatory.

In his photographs of Brooke's

Comet in 1893 were revealed "what wonderful changes the tails of these bodies undergo, transformations so remarkable that they must be due in some way to disturbing forces in planetary space which break and distort a comet's tail.

The most spectacular of his achievements, which coupled his name with that of Galileo, was his discovery of the 1632 Barnard's tear.

ON September 9, 1892, Barnard,

using the 36-inch telescope, discovered a fifth satellite of Jupiter, a very small body revolving around the great planet in less than twelve hours, at a distance of about 47,000 miles from its surface.

This discovery bears eloquent testimony, as Barnard has pointed out, to the autoneous of elements existing in the fifth satellite is exceedingly small, being of the third size, and is the first satellite in known from the gliding disk of Jupiter.

Other notable achievements of Barnard are: the discovery that the tail of the star, Beta Capricorni, is double; and the independent discovery of the comet of 1910, which was opposite to the sun, known by its German name as the Gegenschwein.

The five-inch cup could be also improved by filling it with hot water. We drop a put like we hear it slide.

get on the green he could call his

The first legal notice of golf was

It's twelve hundred miles up the fighting up there a couple of years ago.

The Americans and English officers organized a golf club with one set of clubs and caddies carrying machine guns. The holes were to be made in the ground.

At night the Chinese rebels would attack and steal the tomato cans.

After losing a chain grocery store system of empty tomato cans

the officers got smart and took in the holes after each daily turnament.

A tomato can is about five inches across so you can get an idea of what the new putting green would

Some golfers would prefer wash

We figure there are ten million golfers in this sublimed land with an output of a billion puts for the
